Kitsap Conservation District - Poulsbo

Kitsap Conservation District offers technical assistance to landowners to help preserve our natural resources. They collaborate with farmers, residents, and businesses to work toward conservation goals.

As a first time recipient of WSDA F2FP funding in 2019, Kitsap Conservation District contracts with local farms to purchase fresh fruits and vegetables for delivery to food pantries. With community support they look forward to amplifying local efforts to increase access to fresh produce through projects like the GRACE Garden while supporting Kitsap's farms.

To learn more about the impact Farm to Food Pantry had on the 23th District, look for the 2019 Farm to Food Pantry Report available in January of 2020.

"My son loves when we have fresh produce and I love knowing that it was grown by local farmers. Please keep it coming. It helps so much."
